

Relief From Headache Is Yours If You Want It

You have only to get a box of Stearns' Headache Wafers at your druggist's and take one. They are little and tasteless. This is the most popular headache cure in the world and has been sold for more than twenty years; the only reason that so many people buy it over and over is that it does what it should—cures headache promptly, safely, pleasantly.

No one needs to suffer from headache when

are at hand. It is well to keep a box in the house all the time, for headaches always come without warning. This will drive them away as quickly as they came.

Stearns' Headache Wafers are so much better than others that it will pay you to insist on having STEARNS' and no other.

GIRLS SEE MAN JUMP 26 STORIES

NEW YORK, November 23.—The longest suicidal leap on record was taken yesterday in this city, when John H. Johnstone, a bookkeeper, sick and out of work, cast himself from a twenty-sixth-story window of the City Investing building on lower Broadway. Johnstone had intended to kill himself with a razor, but apparently after making a tiny cut in his throat he lost his nerve for that kind of death and took the plunge instead. He fell more than 300 feet and landed on and broke the roof of the Corlandt street portico entrance.

Practically every bone in his body was broken, and the razor, which he had put back into his pocket, was smashed to bits, but his spectacles remained on his nose and were not even cracked.

Several women in offices past which the body fell grew hysterical or fainted. A great crowd gathered in Broadway and Cortlandt street, and for a time blocked traffic.

Leaves a Family.

Johnstone had a wife and three children. His home was at Amers, a suburb of East Orange, N. J. He had worked since spring for the New York County Lawyers' Association, but Saturday was discharged. He had been complaining of a stomach trouble and was nervous and melancholy when Monday he helped his successor learn the details of the work.

Several persons in the offices facing the court saw Johnstone jump and a scream was raised which brought hundreds of people to the windows. The man stood an instant on the ledge and then raised his arms and dived.

In the room from which the bookkeeper had jumped the police found the man's hat, overcoat, collar and cravat. In the pockets of the overcoat Johnstone had placed the razor case, his watch and other personal effects. Among them was a Sunday school pamphlet, "God the Creator of All Things," in which was this verse: "Little beam of rosy light, Who has made you shine so bright? Little bird with golden wing, Who has taught you how to sing?"

Other Leaps and Falls. Other leaps and falls in this city include—

From the thirteenth story of the Park Row building, suicidal.

From the thirty-fourth story of the Metropolitan Life building (500 feet), accidental.

From the Brooklyn bridge (135 feet), suicidal and accidental.

From the twenty-eighth floor of the n v Bankers' Trust building, accidental.

Doctors say that as a rule a person who falls from a considerable height loses consciousness before the end of the plunge.

PRINTING MONEY WITH POWER PRESS OPPOSED

WASHINGTON, November 23.—A resolution protesting against the Smoot bill, substituting power for hand presses in the printing of the government's money, has been adopted at the convention of the American Federation of Labor, in session at Atlanta, according to reports received by local labor officials.

They contended that the printing of money on power presses would open a way to widespread counterfeiting. The resolution says:

"The American Federation of Labor, in convention assembled, protests against the repeal of the law of Congress of 1898, which provides that the paper money, bonds and checks of the United States shall be manufactured in the highest style of the art by what is known as the hand-roller process. We do not believe in a cheap country, cheap men, cheap wages or a currency cheapened to the danger point of encouraging counterfeiting. In this respect the people have implicit confidence in their government, and our pride and interest alike demand that this confidence shall not be destroyed. The people, in the last analysis, are the government, and their voice, and not that of the seditious and scheming interests, should prevail in this matter of so vast, far-reaching and vital concern.

"All bodies affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are hereby urged to make immediate and strong protest against the repeal or modification of the law heretofore referred to, such protests to be sent to the senators and representatives of the states and congressional districts wherein the protesting bodies are located."

When it comes down to a fine point, there is probably no more reason why ladies should not smoke in cafes than why men should eat in their shirt sleeves. It is all very largely a matter of custom.—Washington Star.

Yet we must credit the old system of education with producing the admirable intellects now engaged in advocating new systems.—Washington Star.

There's one thing that's peculiar; It always puzzles me; I've thought it over many months And still I can not see.

A WONDER.

Old Santa Claus is big and fat, Our chimney's very small, It seems almost beyond belief That he gets down at all.
